Students and Staff- Black History Month Highlight: Did you know that, thanks to Charles Drew, blood is available when it is needed? Drew was an African-American physician, surgeon, and medical researcher who worked with the Red Cross and helped develop large-scale blood banks and blood plasma programs. He invented Bloodmobiles which are the refrigerated trucks that, to this day, safely transport stored blood to the location where it is needed most.

"Don't settle for average. Bring your best to the moment. Then, whether it fails or succeeds, at least you know you gave all you had. We need to live the best that's in us."
~ Angela Bassett, an American actress, director, producer, and activist
